January

Did you know?

Wokingham means 'Wocca's people's home'. Wocca was apparently a Saxon chieftain who may also have owned lands at Wokefield in Berkshire and Woking in Surrey. In Victorian times, the name became corrupted to Oakingham, and consequently the acorn with oak leaves is the town's heraldic charge, granted in the 19th century.

Did you know?

The earliest known school in Wokingham was that attached to the Chantry of All Saints' Church in the first half of the 16th century. The Chantry itself was dissolved in 1548 but the school itself may have continued.

Throughout the 17th century Henry Mountague, father and son, ran a grammar school in Broad Street, almost certainly on the site now occupied by Montague House.

A girl's boarding school was established in the 1770s and run from Montague House.
